SECTION A: AFRICAN, CARIBBEAN AND AFRICAN-AMERICAN LITERATURE

ERNA MILLER: Extra Time

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow.

- 1 Ndapa and her father at ten to seven. The two men stood at Joseph's pickup while Ndapa and Tangeni checked if they got between them what was needed for the field work. Ndapa showed Tangeni the bag of apples and oranges she bought for the children as a treat. 5
- "We have to buy a few of their semi-precious stones to exhibit together with our project," Ndapa said.
- "I'll get plastic bags and cotton wool for the stones." Tangeni disappeared into the house.
- Mr Shikongo took a few hundred dollars from his wallet and put them into Joseph's shirt pocket. "For petrol" he said. 10
- "It's too much," Joseph protested.
- "The fuel price has gone sky high. It's about 250 kilometres to the Spitzkoppe; that makes 500 in total."
- Joseph put his hand on the rusty bonnet of his pickup. "Old, but still doing a good job," he said proudly. 15
- A look of regret came into Mr Shikongo's eyes. "I wish I could join you and leave the work behind me for a day in the desert. I have very little time for my children, unfortunately. Thank you for helping my daughter."
- "One day, Joseph said, "it may be the other way around, and it might be you helping my son." 20
- Mr Shikongo stood looking after them when the pick drove off. Ndapa sat in front between Joseph and Tangeni.
- When they had left Windhoek, Tangeni could wait no longer and said "Dad I've got a proposal to make." 25
- "Yes?"
- "Could you give me a suspended sentence of a month?"
- "What do you mean by a suspended sentence?" Joseph said. He could not keep a note of irritation from his voice. He was still nauseous, and driving in a car did not improve the situation. 30
- "I mean, please let me go and practise football next week" Tangeni said.
- "You're grounded."
- "If I fail a test again you can ground me, for a longer period if you want to. That's what I mean."

- (a) What cultural values are revealed in the passage? [10]
- (b) Write an account of how Mr Shikongo later helps Tongai in the story. [15]
- 2 Show that Extra Time is a suitable title for the novel. [25]
- 3 Describe relationships explored in the novel, Extra Time. [25]

RICHARD RAYNER: The Valley of Tantalika

- 4 Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow.

The Great Valley is at peace now; the deep wound which man inflicted is healing, for he has come to terms with Nature, and Nature, perhaps with him. Both are receiving the benefits from the forming of the lake. For man there is the hydro-electric power for his homes and industries in Zimbabwe and in Zambia, with a vast playground for his leisure, where he can gain new knowledge of Nature's ways. For Nature, there is a sanctuary for all her children of the Great Valley in the areas which border the lake, and there is the lake itself. 5

In one area, where the sweet grass, so beloved by the Pambuka herd of impalas, grows again along a curving beach the descendants of Kali-Anuka are thriving. You may, should you journey to Kariba, come across the impalas in some Utopian glade, close to the lake shore; do not expect them to approach you, trustingly, as Kali-Anuka and others approached Ijongojongo, long ago. For the words of Kali-Anuka are remembered by the Pambuka herd, and all the impalas in the Great Valley. 10

"There are good and bad Zimikile," he had often said, "I am never able to tell the difference." 15

Perhaps he knows now, and Tantalika, too, for neither of them still roams through the wild Zambezi Valley.

Nor does Ijongojongo.

- (a) How is a happy atmosphere created in the play? [10]
- (c) Give an account of the incident when the animals were taken to a place of safety by the Zimikiles. [15]
- 5 Imagine you are Tantalika, write a letter to Fura Uswa telling him about the challenges faced by the Pambuka herd during the construction of the dam. [25]
- 6 To what extent are human beings responsible for the destruction of the environment in the Valley of Tantalika? [25]

SECTION B: RUSSIAN, CHINESE, FRENCH OR ENGLISH LITERATURE

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE: Othello

- 7 Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow

Roderigo

What a full fortune does the thick-lips owe,
If he can carry it thus!

Iago

Call up her father,
Rouse him, make after him, poison his delight,
Proclaim him in the street, incense her kinsmen,
And though he in a fertile climate dwell,
Plague him with flies: though that his joy be joy,
Yet throw such chances of vexation on't
As it may lose some colour.

5

Roderigo

Here is her father's house; I'll call aloud.

10

Iago

Do, with like timorous accent and dire yell,
As when, by night and negligence, the fire
Is spied in populous cities.

Roderigo

What ho, Brabantio! Signior Brabantio, ho!

Iago

Awake! What ho, Brabantino! Thieves, thieves!
Look to your house, your daughter, and your bags,
Thieves, thieves!

15

Brabantino appears above, at a window

Brabantino

What is the reason of this terrible summons?
What is the matter there?

20

Roderigo

Signior, is all your family within?

Iago

Are your doors lock'd?

Brabantio

Why, wherefore ask you this?

Iago

Zounds, sir, you're robb'd; for shame, put on your gown;
Your heart is burst, you have lost half your soul;
Even now, now, very now, an old black ram
Is tupping your white ewe, Arise, arise;
Awake the snorting citizens with the bell,
Or else the devil will make a grandsire of you.
Arise, I say!

25

30

- (a) What emotions are aroused on you as you read the passage above? [10]
- (d) Give an account of Brabantio's reaction to the news about the theft of his daughter. [15]
- 8 What evidence would you give to prove that Iago is an evil character? [25]
- 9 To what extent is Othello responsible for his downfall? [25]

GEORGE ORWELL: Animal Farm

- 10 Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow:

As they approached the farm, Squealer, who had unaccountably been absent during the fighting, came skipping towards them, whisking his tail and beaming with satisfaction. And the animals heard, from the direction of the farm buildings, the solemn booming of a gun.

‘What is that gun firing for?’ said Boxer. 5

‘To celebrate our victory!’ cried Squealer.

‘What victory?’ said Boxer. His knees were bleeding, he had lost a shoe and split his hoof, and dozen pellets had lodged themselves in his hind leg.

‘What victory, comrade? Have we not driven the enemy off our soil – the sacred soil of Animal Farm?’ 10

‘But they have destroyed the windmill. And we had worked on it for two years!’

‘What matter? We will build another windmill. We will build six windmills if we feel like it. You do not appreciate, comrade, the mighty thing that we have done.

The enemy was in occupation of this very ground that we stand upon. And now – thanks to the leadership of Comrade Napoleon – we have won every inch of it back again!’ 15

‘Then we have won back what we had before,’ said Boxer.

‘That is our victory,’ said Squealer.

They limped into the yard. The pellets under the skin of Boxer’s leg smarted painfully. He saw ahead of him the heavy labour of rebuilding the windmill from the foundations, and already in imagination he braced himself for the task. But for the first time, it occurred to him that he was eleven years old and that perhaps his great muscles were not quite what they had once been. 20

- (a) What aspects of Squealer’s character do you get from the passage? [10]
- (b) Give a detailed account of the building of the first windmill. [15]
- 11 Explain how the pigs break the seven commandments. [25]
- 12 What lessons do you get from the study of Animal Farm? [25]
