Answer one question.

You are advised to spend 10 – 15 minutes on the presentation.

- 1 Your teenage nephew has a birthday party. As part of the entertainment for the event, you decide to do a performance as a clown. Present the performance in which the clown plays the role of an aunt or uncle advising teenagers. [100]
- 2 The Intwasa Arts Festival which is celebrated for its vibrant showcase of artistic talent and cultural diversity is a prominent event on the global arts calendar. To promote this festival, a theatrical performance will be showcased across the country, capturing its essence and generating excitement in the audience. Present a promotional performance highlighting at least five genres. Assume the role of lead performer. [100]
- 3 While visiting a historical monument, you unknowingly violate a traditional custom for which some appeasement has to be performed. Perform the appeasement ceremony. Use elements of music, dance and physical theatre. [100]
- 4 With the help of a colleague, present a performance based on the extract below;

Setting: Semi rural area, at Atete Rutendo's home. On the upper right is the entrance to the kitchen and on the lower right is the exit. There is a window in between. On the left is one door leading to Atete Rutendo's bedroom.

There is a coffee table in the middle with three chairs around it. On the coffee table is a container with peanuts to be shelled.

It is a Saturday morning. Atete is seated in the middle chair shelling peanuts. She jumps off her seat all of a sudden and peeps through the window.

Atete Rutendo: Oh my muzukuru, I pity you. Marrying for love is old-fashioned but the only way. This is why there are so many unhappy marriages and broken homes nowadays. People now marry for money and not love.

Rudo: I suppose you married for love in your days?

Atete Rutendo: We married out of a social need. (Rudo looks at watch. About to stand up) You must be excited. In fact you look excited.

Rudo: I wonder. (As if she has remembered soothing) Incidentally, Atete, I had a dream. Well, (Dismissing the matter) we don't need to take dreams too seriously, do we?

- Atete Rutendo: You dreamed of him?
- Rudo: (Laughing) Leo-James. (More seriously) No, I saw Tambu.
- Atete Rutendo: (Shocked) Who?
- Rudo: Tambudzayi. My late sister Tambudzayi.
- Atete Rutendo: (Stops shelling and shows concern) What was the dream about?
- Rudo: (Recalling and making gestures) I was with her family. Her husband, Togara, was seated on my left. Tambudzayi was seated opposite me. Her two children, Nyasha and Ruvimbo, were on my right. We were having a meal. Before we had even finished, she disappeared. She left me with her family. Then I woke up. (Atete has a pensive look) You look worried. What could be the matter? Can the dream be of any significance?
- Atete Rutendo: I think Tambu wants you to join her family. You know what she said five years ago before she died?
- Rudo: (Flippantly) I'll defy that, I am aware of what she said of course. She left the instruction that Togara should not marry any other woman except me.
- Atete Rutendo: Yes, Tambudzayi knew she was going to die. The doctors had indicated to her that her disease was incurable. She was worried about her children. Ruvimbo was seven years old then and Nyasha was only four. She left her husband with the instruction that he should marry you for the sake of the children. Togara has no choice except to marry you.
- Rudo: (Emphatically) but I don't love him. I want to get married to Leo.
- Atete Rutendo: These are the words of a dead person. They should be considered seriously.
- Rudo: I'll simply take care of the children.
- Atete Rutendo: Remember, since your sister died, Togara has been responsible for you, your clothing, your education and everything until you become of marriageable age.
- Rudo: (Surprised) I don't believe it. I thought my father was. That's incredible. Leo wants to marry me in five years' time when I've completed my degree.

Atete Rutendo: Togara has not indicated when he wishes to take you. You may proceed with your education. When are you expecting your Form Four results?

Rudo: In six weeks' time ... (Sound of a bus is heard. Atete and Rudo stand up hurriedly. Atete accidentally drops container onto floor. Rudo rushes left to the bedroom)

Atete Rutendo: (Pacing up and down confused) Hurry! Hurry!
That's why I said it's better to be at the bus stop early. (Rudo re-enters carrying handbag and raincoat and still combing her hair. Exits right and Atete Rutendo rushes after her as far as the door. She returns and starts collecting peanuts from the floor. Before she finished, a knock is heard) Come in! (Stands up with container in her left hand to welcome the visitor. Togara enters right) What a lovely surprise to see you, Togara my muzukuru.
(The two shake hands) [100]

- 5 Using the extract below, film this short scene from Romeo and Juliet experimenting with different shots, angles and focusing techniques. Present a write up justifying your shots.

LADY CAPULET: Marry, that 'marry' is the very theme I came to talk of. Tell me, daughter Juliet, How stands your disposition to be married?

JULIET: It is an honour that I dream not of.

NURSE: An honour! were not I thine only nurse, I would say thou hadst suck'd wisdom from thy teat.

LADY CAPULET: Well, think of marriage now younger than you, Here in Verona, ladies of esteem, Are made already mothers: by my count. I was your mother much upon these years. That you are now a maid. Thus then in brief. The valiant Paris seeks you for his love.
