SECTION A : PROSE

TADERERA ELIZABETH : Jabu

- 1 Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow.

“Son, I want to talk to you,” my father barged in on me as I was staring at Penny’s picture.

“Yes, father,” I sat up on the bed and put the phone on the side.

“It’s not good that a girl buys a boy stuff,” he had always been blunt. I did not try to sieve his words and try to figure out what he was trying to say. “Sorry, what do you mean?” I tried to act dumb instead; I knew he was talking about the phone and the drop off. 5

“That girl, she is not your class,” he blatantly said it. The words I had been dreading came rolling off his tongue.

“We are only friends, Father,” I lied. My heart knew that I wanted to be more than a friend to Penny. 10

“My son, I hope so. Girls like her do not know how to respect a man,” he spoke.

His words rang in my head, I never imagined Penny to be like that. She was perfect in my eyes; she was not the type to disrespect me.

“They will control you and buy your submission. Find a girl like your mother. Your class, our class.” He continued and I sat on the bed, staring quietly at my father. 15

Somehow, he spoke some sense. A part of my day that I spent with Penny replayed in my head; she did not ask me what I wanted to eat, she only followed what she thought was right in her head. Maybe that was her favourite food or she had pre-ordered it. I loved Penny; I think she liked me. Would she disrespect me? My father left the room and left a huge void in my heart. I was a way out of Penny’s league and my father confirmed it for me, but was I going to listen to him? 20

- (a) What emotions are evoked in you as you read the passage above? [10]
- (b) Narrate ways in which Penny proves to be controlling. [6]
- (c) Describe the relationship between Jabu and his father as shown in the passage and elsewhere in the novel. [9]

- 2 Show that the novel, Jabu, criticises people who are against the values of Ubuntu/Unhu/Vumunhu. [25]
- 3 Discuss the theme of love in the novel, Jabu. [25]

SECTION B : POETRY

GINIO CHENAI A. (ed) : New Voices Diversity Dawns - An anthology of poems

- 4 Read the following poem and answer the questions that follow.

Tears of a princess

Thou art my prince
Thy princess is on
A quest for her majesty
Thy knight in shining armour rescue thy
Damsel in distress

5

I know not your name
Neither do I need to know your face
All I need is your heart
A heart rich in love
A royal heart is all I need

10

Hear my cry
A cry from the heart
A heart tainted with
Nothing but tears

My time with commoners is due
Commoners who know not that
Loyalty is royalty
Come hither my prince
Your royal heart is all I need
Thy heart is an empty space.

SECTION C: DRAMA

CHINODYA SHIMMER : Harvest of Thorns Classic: A Play

7 Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow.

PASI (pinning down the Scout's head with his boot) So you are a Selous Scout! You kill innocent people, priests, nuns, teachers and businessmen to confuse the povo. You poison wells, shoot cattle, burn down villages.

SELOUS SCOUT Kill me please. Finish me off.

(PASI raises his bayonet, hesitates, lowers it. He searches through the Scout's pockets, appropriating watch, money, cigarettes, twists of marijuana, etc.) 5

SELOUS SCOUT Won't you finish me off? Please.

PASI I won't waste a bullet on a Smithie dog like you. Or stain my bayonet with your evil blood.

SELOUS SCOUT (Hoarsely) Dear Lord ... forgive me – 10

PASI Forgive yourself, mate.

SELOUS SCOUT So ... so stupid Stupid to die...(shudders and dies)

(NKAZANA screams)

PASI Quiet, Nkazana. (He drags the red cloth from the pulpit and covers the dead man with it) 15

NKAZANA (crossing herself and peering at the wrapped body) Is he – dead?

PASI Yeah. Lifeless as a drowned rat. (philosophically) Isn't it so easy, dying.

NKAZANA Bantu beNkosi! Or God!

PASI He's just one more of them down. There are hundreds of them out there, haunting the countryside. It's they who are the terrorists, not us. 20

NKAZANA Abanye bakhe bazabuya hini ukhuzomuthatha? Will they come for him?

PASI I guess so. Maybe they'll send a chopper in the morning. (sardonically) Meantime he can get ready to meet with his Maker, undisturbed.

(NKAZANA crosses herself again and mumbles a prayer)

PASI A prayer? For him? Let him stew in hell. If ever there is a heaven or hell. 25

NKAZANA Comrade Pasi. Please –

PASI It was going to be either him, or me. Us and them. Wrestling this wretched piece of the Earth from each other. Every day. Watering this soil with our dear blood. And where do you think God is looking while we butcher each other like this?

30
